PANAMA CANAL – BALBOA

The Panama Canal is a major shipping route that traverses the Isthmus of Panama in Central America, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The site is steeped in history and visitors will be amazed at the natural beauty of the place as well as marveling at what human ingenuity can achieve. From the days of Balboa to Teddy Roosevelt, the conquering of the Isthmus has fired the imagination of explorers, presidents and engineers. As Star Flyer rises through Gatun locks into the placid reaches of tree-fringed Gatun Lake, and proceeds along Gaillard Cut to emerge into the broad Pacific Ocean, one can only wonder at the courage, resourcefulness and endurance of those visionary builders from long ago. The Panama Canal goes from Cristobal (Atlantic side), in the bay of Limon to Balboa (Pacific side) in the Gulf of Panama. It is approximately 80 km long; its minimum width is 91 m. Three locks lift the ships 26m above sea level to Lake Gatun and lower them down again.

SAN BLAS, PANAMA

The remote coral atolls of the San Blas islands are like a string of exquisite pearls strung round the throat of Panama's wildly beautiful Kuna Yala Coast. The islands are the ancestral home of the indigenous Kuna People. The Kuna are proud and self-reliant; they prize their independence which was won with the help of the US in 1952. Their traditional culture is communal and egalitarian with a rich oral history and artistic heritage, expressed through poetic story telling and the intricate appliquéd Mola designs worn by the Kuna womenfolk.

CARTAGENA, COLOMBIACartagena, Old Town Discovery tour

By air-conditioned vehicles and on foot

Minimum 20 participants, no maximum

Duration 3h30

Euros 46

Cartagena is a UNESCO World Heritage site. Located on the north coast of Colombia, Cartagena boasts a spectacular assortment of buildings and massive fortifications dating from the early 1600s. The fortresses were built to protect Cartagena from pirates

The air-conditioned buses leave the port and pass through the traditional district of Manga so you can admire the beautiful houses dating from the Republican era. The walking tour starts at Santiago's Bastion. You will go down the ramp to San Juan de Dios Street, with its fine colonial architecture and end up at San Pedro Claver's Plaza. Here your guide will tell you about San Pedro Claver church (inside view) and convent and the Jesuit priest for whom they are named. Peter Claver dedicated his whole life to helping and caring for the wretched slaves who arrived in Cartagena; he became an extraordinary moral force in the town, preaching in the city squares and establishing missions for sailors and traders. He was canonized in 1888 by Pope Leo XIII.

The tour continues down towards Custom Plaza, which was the hub of commercial activity during the colonial era, and then on to Plaza de la Proclamacion to admire the Cathedral (outside view). You will also see the Governor's building, headquarters of the Spanish government in colonial days, and listen to a talk on Independence (outside view). You will get the opportunity to visit the Navy Museum which houses model scales of galleons and scales of different navy battles defending Cartagena. After the visit you will be offered some refreshment. The next stop is the Plaza de Bolivar where you can see the statue of Simon Bolivar, the renowned military leader and political visionary who played a key role in securing independence from Spain, as well as the infamous Inquisition Palace.(outside)

Admire the magnificent colonial mansions as we stroll back to the tour bus at Santiago's Bastion. The walking part of the tour is now over but the excursion continues by coach to Las Bovedas. This complex of 47 arcades and 23 vaults was the last fortification built in Cartagena by the military engineer Don Antonio de Arevalo. During the colonial era it was used as barracks for the troops and to store military provisions; later on it served as a jail house. Nowadays, the cells have been converted into boutiques selling a wonderful array of Colombian merchandise and artifacts, so you will be able to do some souvenir shopping.

The excursion ends with a short sightseeing drive through Boca Grande.

On the way back to the pier, there will be a brief stop at the San Felipe de Barajas fort to admire the panoramic view .(photo stop)

Shops are normally closed on Sundays although they may open when a ship is in port. The stop at Las Bovedas depends on whether the shops are open.

BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS

Made up of some 40 islands, the British Virgin Islands were once referred to as the least important place in the British Empire. Apparently, little thought was given to the matter before this statement was made. The BVI's, with their astounding and varied beauty, are nothing short of a picturesque paradise. Although the Spanish used the islands briefly, notoriety came from famous pirates such as Blackbeard, Norman and Jost Van Dyke. These legendary marauders used the islands as a base from which to launch attacks and as their own safe-haven. The BVI's were not actually settled by Europeans until the 1600's when the Dutch arrived. They were soon joined by the English and in 1672, England formally annexed the islands. Sugar plantations and rum manufacturing were soon the primary industries on the islands. After the abolition of slavery, the islands' lucrative businesses began to falter and many of the expatriates began returning to England, leaving the land to their former slaves. There was little or no change on the islands until 1950, when a local government was installed by the islanders, but to this day the BVI's remain part of the English Commonwealth.

The BVI's have a growing reputation, particularly with the yachting crowd, for being among the most beautiful and scenic islands in the Caribbean. The beaches, with crystal-clear waters and powdery white sand, have been noted as some of the most exquisite in the world. The islands also have lush mountains and rain forests as well as arid locations. The combination of both makes the BVI's a Caribbean paradise.

SPANISH TOWN, VIRGIN GORDA

This half-mountainous, half-flat “Fat Virgin” with a scrawny neck lies a few miles northeast of Tortola. Though it’s home to just 1500 people, it has some of the Caribbean’s most amazing sights. The Baths are a surreal collection of gigantic granite boulders strewn across blindingly white palm-lined beaches at the southwest end of the island. Tide and wave action turns caves into baths and back again, eroding a snorkeling playground of crevices and pools. The island is seven miles long and the northernmost half is mountains with a peak of 1370 feet high, while the southern half is relatively flat. There are some 20 secluded beaches. On the southeast tip is Copper Mine Point, where the Spaniards mined copper, gold and silver until about 400 years ago. The remains of a mine built by Cornish miners in 1838 are being restored as funds permit. The rocky facade here is reminiscent of the Cornish coast of England. The amateur geologist will find stones such as malachite and crystals embedded in quartz. All land on Virgin Gorda over 1000 feet is now a National Park where trails have been blazed for walking.

The Baths

By open-air safari buses

Minimum 15 participants, maximum 120

Euros 42

The Baths are a series of small sea pools lying beneath a canopy of giant granite boulders. These sheltered light-filled grottoes create a unique setting in which to swim and explore. Open-air safari buses will bring you to the entrance of the Baths. A path winds down to a beautiful sandy beach where you will have plenty of time to swim or snorkel in emerald clear waters or just relax in the warm Caribbean sun. A trail leads through the boulders to another equally beautiful beach at Devil’s Bay. Swim and bask in the sun at your leisure.

Upon your return to the car park, gazebo and your waiting bus, you will be served a complimentary refreshing fruit or rum punch at the Top of the Baths restaurant. On the way back to the port, several photo stops will be made for photo-taking as the tour bus travels the twisting road to the crest of Gorda Peak.

We recommend wearing comfortable walking shoes, as the footpath to the Baths is uneven.

The footpath is approx 250 meters up and down.

Persons participating in this tour should be energetic and physically able.

Bring your swimwear, towels, sunscreen

Drivers act as guides during this tour.

Cold refreshments, snacks and souvenirs are available for purchase at the Baths.

LONG BAY, BEEF ISLAND

JOST VAN DYKE

This four mile long island, named after a Dutch pirate, is truly a "barefoot" paradise, known by travelers the world over for its casual lifestyle, protected anchorages, fine beaches and beachfront restaurants and bars. A favourite destination for Yachties, Jost Van Dyke adjoins the tropical isles of Green Cay and Sandy Spit.

SOPER'S HOLE

Soper's Hole is a kind of tropical urban "gunk hotel", a nautical term for a delightful spot to anchor. The locality manages to retain its quaint charm while at the same time being a hub of activity. Surrounded by small mountains like Frenchman's Cay, Soper's Hole imparts a feeling of peace and serenity and yet at the same time there is a beguiling hint of anticipation for it is the "gateway" to a sea of islands (such as St. John) and holds the promise of upcoming adventure.

SAINT BARTHELEMY

The Island of St Barthélemy, commonly known as St. Barts, is located at 18° N 63°W, in the north eastern corner of the Caribbean Sea. Steep hills divide the island into several valleys, usually open to the sea on one side. Each valley is distinctive with unique variations of topography, flora, density of settlement and character of architecture. This diversity creates the illusion of being on a much larger island. The shoreline includes 14 beaches of various sizes, all covered with gleaming white sand. Many are protected from ocean swells by a fringing reef all by law, are public and free. Several offshore areas are included in a marine reserve.

Discovered by Columbus in 1493, St. Barts is part of the French West Indies. Today it is a small piece of France in the Caribbean, some 4400 miles from Paris. It has long been a Caribbean hideaway for the rich and famous, but the island does have other distinguishing features. It is the only Caribbean island to have a Swedish heritage, if only partially. Louis XVI ceded the island to Sweden in exchange for trading rights elsewhere. St. Barts has been, and remains primarily French, and today is a province of Guadeloupe. Though only eight square miles in size and despite an increasing flow of tourists, some of the island's villages still maintain traditional dress and customs from 17th century France. The capital Gustavia, surrounds a harbour of picture book beauty, lined with boutiques and cafés. St Barts with its mountainous landscape leading down to picturesque azure water coves and beaches is undoubtedly one of the jewels of the Caribbean.

SAINT MAARTEN

Minimum 10 participants, maximum unlimited

Duration approx 3h30

Euros 48

Saint Maarten is one of the most unique destinations in the Caribbean. Since 1648 the island has been divided between the French and the Dutch with both sides maintaining their very distinct personality and heritage. The French side, Saint Martin is quiet and refined with gorgeous white beaches, French cuisine and sophisticated resorts.

The Dutch side of Saint Maarten has a more obviously Caribbean flavour with its brightly coloured buildings and tropical flair. St Maarten's capital is Philipsburg which bustles with duty free shopping, quality dining and an active nightlife. Practically, the whole island's economy is based on tourism with around 70% of the population working in the tourist sector. The island is also duty-free, which of course enhances its attractiveness for tourists. Both the French and the Dutch sides of the island benefit from the sandy beaches and coves which create an ideal environment for swimming, snorkelling and water sports.

Departing the Harbor at 8h45 am, guests are dropped off in nearby Philipsburg for a one-hour browsing and shopping on famous Front Street (shops open at 9 am) . After enjoying the Dutch Capital, guests are driven past the salt ponds, once the main source of revenue for the island, guests head towards Oyster Pond, past the lookout where kite surfers can be photographed catching the waves, and continuing onto Orient Bay, the St Tropez of the Caribbean and well known for its "clothing-optional" policy. Breathing in the stunning views of the open Atlantic and the shimmering hills of St Barth in the distance; with a little time to feel the white sand between their toes, guests are then taken further through the picturesque countryside of French St Martin to the village of Grand Case, the gourmet capital of the Caribbean and home to 40 restaurants, alive with Creole culture and a local community vibe.

Entering Marigot, the capital of the French side of St. Martin, the tour will stop for a 1 hour break giving guests the time for some more souvenir hunting, duty free shopping and/or time to enjoy a coffee in a typically French café.

Leaving the charming French capital of Marigot guests cross the French drawbridge driving through Sandy Ground and Nettle Bay before reaching Terres Basses, home to the rich and famous and their private villas. Leaving Terres Basses guests will cross the border once again, providing a breathtaking view over Cupecoy, before passing through Sint Maarten's Mullet Bay golf course, and onto Maho, a popular nightlife spot. The tour ends at PJI Airport by 12h30 pm ready for departing flights.
